ABSTRACT

The State Library of Ohio's genealogy collection of over 8,000 items is listed by county. Within each county listing the sources are designated as atlases, cemetery and death records, census records (the majority from the 1800's), family-church-Bible records, marriage records, or county and township histories. Vital records consist of material copied from original records in country courthouses and elsewhere, as well as materials copied by the Ohio Society, Daughters of the American Revolution since the Library is the state depository for Ohio DAR materials. FOREWORD

Interest in the field of genealogy has increased rapidly within the last few years and has been accompanied by an explosion of seminars, computer search firms, and genealogy clubs. Books available range from vital records collected by the Daughters of the American Revolution to a treatise on pioneer migration patterns. However, for the general family researcher there is no substitute for a basic source book or how-to-do-it guide to research. Since 1960, Ruth Douthit's Ohio Resources for Genealogists With Some References for Genealogical Searching in Ohio (The Detroit Society for Genealogical Research, o.p.) has been a basic tool for Ohio researchers. In 1972, Mrs. Douthit issued a revised edition.

County by County in Ohio Genealogy is partially derived from her work and is intended to give a full revised listing of Ohio genealogical materials available at The State Library of Ohio for each Ohio county. It will serve both as a guide to the Ohio collection and as a source book.

I would also like to express appreciation to the Ohio Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, who have contributed a great deal to the State Library's collection of vital records and family histories through the diligent work of their chapters and to other patriotic societies, local and state genealogical societies. Special thanks in maintaining the program are due the volunteers who assist regularly in the genealogy room.

And finally, the assistance of Miriam Cunningham and Robert Tobin in the compilation of County by County in Ohio Genealogy is gratefully acknowledged. Another note of appreciation is given to the Word Processing Center of The State Library of Ohio who have spent many hours typing and proofreading this publication.

THE STATE LIBRARY OF OHIO'S GENEALOGY COLLECTION

The State Library of Ohio's genealogy collection numbers well over 8000 books. The main focus of the collection is materials for the colonial states, Ohio, and the states immediately surrounding Ohio such as Kentucky, Tennessee, and West Virginia. States west and south of Ohio are not covered. The sources include vital records, county histories, census data, etc. Vital records for Ohio consist of material copied by the Ohio Society, Daughters of the American Revolution since we are the state depository for all Ohio Daughters of the American Revolution materials. Our vital records are compilations of materials found in county courthouses and elsewhere. We have copied abstracts rather than the original records. In addition to these, the library has a variety of basic genealogy indexes and source books.

The collection itself is shelved in an open stack area which means that books are immediately available to the patron. You may help yourself from the shelves. We ask, however, that you do not reshelve the books. Leave them on the tables and our page will replace them. The collection is non-circulating.

The genealogy collection is completely cataloged. Cards will be found respectively in the author, title, and subject catalogs which are located in the main hall.

In addition to these catalogs, there are special card indexes in the room. The Name Index lists family surnames while the Place Index has references to geographical locations. We also have created an Ohio Cemetery Index which lists Ohio cemeteries by name and by township. These indeses will refer you to records held in the library.

These various indexed will also contain references to items found in our genealogical Name and Place Files which include material of a pamphlet nature collection over the years.

The library is located in downtown Columbus on the 11th floor of the Ohio Departments Building at 65 South Front Street and is open Monday through Friday from 9 to 5. The telephone number is 614-466-8050.

Genealogy Correspondence Policy

Requests for genealogical information should be addressed to:

Genealogy Section
The State Library of Ohio

The charge for xeroxing material located is $1.00 for five pages or less for each response. For each additional page over five, the charge is 20¢. Do not send payment until you are notified of the cost.

The genealogical collection is non-circulating; materials cannot be loaned.
